Dear Hiring Managers:

I am writing to express my strong interest in building my skills in coding and becoming an asset for your company. As a recent graduate of the University of North Carolina Charlotte's full-stack coding curriculum and a background in Art and Design Education from Pratt Institute, I am excited about the opportunity to bring my unique blend of skills and experiences to your dynamic team.

My journey in education, spanning from pre-kindergarten to higher education over the course of 6 years, has equipped me with versatile teaching skills and pedagogical approaches that enable me to address students' individual needs effectively. I have become adept at adapting to different teaching environments, much like the ever-evolving landscape of coding languages, frameworks, and technologies.

- Adaptability: Adapting to different teaching environments and coding technologies.
- Problem-solving abilities: Identifying and addressing challenges in both teaching and coding.
- Communication: Effectively conveying complex ideas, whether in the classroom or while coding.
- Patience: Dealing with diverse learning paces and challenges.
- Organization: Managing classrooms and projects efficiently.
- Strong work ethic: Commitment to delivering high-quality outcomes.
- Attention to Detail: Ensuring precision in both education and coding.
- Teamwork: Collaborating effectively with colleagues and project teams.
- Data Analysis: Analyzing student progress data and making data-driven decisions.
- Continuous learning mindset: Embracing ongoing learning and skill development.
- Creative perspective: Bringing innovation to coding projects.

What excites me about being able to join the coding community is its reputation for fostering a rigorous and innovative environments. I am eager to contribute my strenghts to your community. I am confident that my background in Art and Design Education can bring a creative perspective to coding projects, leading to innovative outcomes.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to further discuss how my skills and experiences align with your team's needs. Please feel free to contact me at +1 (570)-316-9651 to schedule an interview.

Sincerely,

Emily Rose Funk
